GET READY-Storm season is just around the corner!

Yep, it is that time again!

Our friends at the National Weather Service, Tulsa are going to conduct their severe storm spotting seminar.

As spring approaches, so does our risk of severe weather. We are extremely fortunate that Steve @ the National Weather Service agrees to conduct the seminar. As always, these seminars are full of very useful information.

If you have never attended one of these here is your chance. You will not be disappointed.

Enter NSU from the WEST parking lot.

Go to the Administration Covered Entry (2nd Building from the south, just north of the Education Building)

Enter and when you pass the bookstore (it will be on your left) Take a LEFT and go to the end of the hall to the Auditorium.
